

AGATHA CHRISTIE'S HERCULE POIROT

Hercule Poirot, the “little Belgian detective”, is one of Christie's most famous and long-lived characters, appearing in 33 novels and 65 short stories published between 1920 and 1975. Poirot is fastidious, always precise, and methodical – using the “little gray cells” of his brain to read the clues and solve classic, cozy, “locked drawing room” British mysteries.

AGATHA CHRISTIE

Dame Agatha Christie, DBE (1890 – 1976) is best known for her 66 detective novels and 14 short story collections. She also wrote the world's longest-running play, “The Mousetrap”, and 6 romances under the name Mary Westmacott. In 1971 she was made a Dame for her contribution to literature.

Born into a wealthy upper-middle-class family, Christie served in a Devon hospital during WWI, tending to troops coming back from the trenches, before marrying and starting a family in London. She was an unsuccessful writer with six rejections when The Mysterious Affair at Styles, featuring Hercule Poirot, was published in 1920. During WWII she worked as a pharmacy assistant at University College Hospital London and acquired a good knowledge of poisons which feature in many of her novels.

Guinness World Records lists Christie as the best-selling novelist of all time. Her novels have sold roughly 2 billion copies and have been translated into at least 103 languages.

AGATHA CHRISTIE'S MISS JANE MARPLE

Jane Marple is the unlikely detective spinster living in the quiet village of St. Mary Mead. She appears in 12 Christie novels and 20 short stories. Between 65 and 70 years old, Jane Marple loves gardening and knitting - and she is a very astute observer of human nature. She uses her observations of life in St. MaryMead and (her frank distrust of people's motives) to hone in on the solutions to the many crimes which come her way.

AGATHA CHRISTIE'S TOMMY & TUPPENCE

Tommy and Tuppence Beresford are a married couple who team up to solve mysteries and thwart international espionage plots. Their adventures are parodies of mystery and spy thrillers of the 1920's genre and are light capers.
