

JANET EVANOVICH'S STEPHANIE PLUM

Stephanie Plum is a former lingerie buyer from Trenton, New Jersey, who becomes a bounty hunter to make ends meet after losing her job. She is often assisted by her eccentric grandmother and equally inept friends and co-workers. Though set in urban New Jersey, these slapstick mysteries have a small town feel as the neighborhood's denizens play minor roles.

JANET EVANOVICH

Janet Evanovich (b. 1943) is best known for her mystery series featuring bounty-hunter-in-training Stephanie Plum. She began her career writing romance novels under the pen name Steffie Hall.

For 10 years, she attempted to write the Great American Novel, finishing 3 manuscripts that she was unable to sell. Writing romances helped her learn to create likable characters and attractive leading men. Evanovich also became known for the humor that filled her novels. She believes that "it's very important to take a comic approach. If we can laugh at something, we can face it."

After her twelfth romance, however, Evanovich realized that she was more interested in writing the action sequences in her novels rather than the sex scenes; she quickly decided that she wanted to write romantic adventure novels. She has over two hundred million books in print worldwide and is translated into over 40 languages. Evanovich lives in Florida with her husband, Pete.
