

Libraries are all about STORIES

...and every library has a story of its own.

This is your chance to help write ours.

The Georgetown Peabody Library — your library — has been serving our community since 1869. Today, you'll find more than 65,000 things here to borrow, explore, or use, including...

- Books and magazines, of course, but also movies, music, ebooks and audiobooks, boardgames, hotspots, and a telescope, as well as garden tools and pickleball paddles
- Art exhibits, quiet spaces to study, and a collection of local history items
- Free access to computers, copier/printers, a fax machine, and the internet

Maybe you already know what a difference this library makes.

But did you know the library needs community support in order to provide us with:

- Summer reading programs for children, teens, and adults
- Free or discounted access to 13 Boston and local museums
- Events like concerts, author visits, and game days
- Additional programming materials or library improvements, such as the StoryWalk®

This is an opportunity for you to make a difference for your library.

We are the Friends of the Georgetown Peabody Library, a 501(c)(3) organization of volunteers who raise funds to support the library's activities and benefits. We urge you to join our efforts with a contribution that will help shape your library's wonderful story.

Thank you,

Elizabeth Hastings

President, Friends of the Georgetown Peabody Library
